

The Barton Creek Greenbelt

The Barton Creek Greenbelt path is a multi-use trail. Please respect the rights of others using the trail. Maintain control and safe speeds while cycling. Bicyclists are always required to yield to hikers. Notify others before passing. Please stay on designated trail (making other trails creates erosion problems). Stay out of closed areas - these areas are undergoing revegetation. Dogs must be controlled; a leash law is enforced. Special note: trail use is extremely high on weekends and during the holidays. Frequent creek crossings will require wading through water (except during the dry seasons). Trail closures are possible due to high water and/or muddy trail conditions. If the Barton Creek watershed has received heavy rainfall visit <http://www.lcra.org> for stream flow information.
